

OKLAHOMA HILLS CINCINNATI RADIUM

Pitchblende Found by Geological Survey Experts.

DISAPPOINTED AS TO GOLD

Thought That Wichita Mountains May Become a Source of Most Valuable of Metals.

According to statements made by scientists connected with the Geological Survey, it is probable that pitchblende, from which radium and thorium are obtained, exists in quantity in the Wichita Mountains of Oklahoma.

Reports were made public today on the recent investigations made in these mountains by experts who were searching for gold and silver ores.

They could find no trace of gold in all the seventy-one samples from the district that they assayed for the yellow metal. Ten samples were examined for silver, but in only two samples was any indication of silver detected. These showed only 0.14 oz. and 0.32 oz. per ton, respectively. In the other samples copper was found, 0.33 per cent in one sample and 10.81 per cent in the other. One sample also showed 3.63 per cent of lead. In these cases, however, the small amount of ore available more than offsets the value.

Other Valuable Metals.

Disappointing as the results of this investigation must be to the people of Oklahoma, some basis for their hope of mineral wealth may be contained in the statement that, although no precious metals were found in the samples examined, discovery was afterward made in one of the samples of the interesting mineral called columbite.

It is not known that columbite has any specific value of its own, but its presence is always significant, for it is known to have a fondness for the society of certain minerals that contain rare and valuable earths.

Samarskite and Pitchblende.

Among these is samarskite, the source of thorium, which is in demand for use in the manufacture of mantles for Welsbach lights. Pitchblende, another of these minerals, is the principal source of radium, and shines nowadays with more than usual effulgence in the firmament of mineral substances.

It may, therefore, come to pass that a small quantity of rarer ore is worth almost as much to Oklahoma as a large quantity of precious metal. Requests have been made by the Survey for other samples from the district, and the possibility whence came the sample containing the columbite.

SEALING FOR ETERNITY NOT LEGAL MARRIAGE

Court's Decision May Help Mormons to Escape Penalty of Polygamy.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Feb. 15.—Judge W. C. Hall has rendered a decision to the effect that the "Mormon celestial marriage," known as "sealing for eternity," does not constitute a marriage in the eyes of the law. The effect of this decision, if it stands, will permit polygamists to escape prosecution by setting up the claim that their plural marriages are "celestial."

Mrs. Annie F. A. Hilton was sealed to Dr. John R. Park in 1873, when the woman, then Miss Armitage, was supposed to be dying. The couple never lived together. Miss Armitage married a man named Hilton while Dr. Park was alive and Hilton still lives. When Park died she brought suit, claiming her husband's share in the estate. Judge Hall decided that as her wedding to Park was for eternity she was not his legal wife.

NEW GOLD DISCOVERIES IN BRITISH YUKON

Zone Lying Southward of Older Mines in Alsek Country.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 15.—New gold discoveries prove the existence of a second gold zone traversing the British Yukon and Alaska and lying considerably southward of the first discovered zone, which crops out at Klondike, Koyukuk, and Nome.

The first strike in the new zone comprises the Tanana gold fields. Last summer rich new placers were found in the Alsek country, west of White Horse. Reports are now being received of placer creeks in hitherto barren country at the head of White River, west of Tanana. Gold has been discovered on the Sustina and other streams of western Alaska, while still other placers are being worked on Bristol Bay.

NEWS FROM BOYDS.

BOYD'S Md., Feb. 15.—James E. Phillips, a well-known school teacher of this county, died suddenly yesterday morning at Martinsburg, aged fifty-three years. He is survived by six children, four sons and two daughters. His wife, Mrs. Mary Phillips, is at Martinsburg.

A large traveling crane capable of holding many tons, has been erected at the big railroad bridge just west of Dickinson's, where it is used in handling the heavy steel in building the new bridge there. Several large steel strainers have been put in place. The Pennsylvania Steel Company is erecting the bridge.

W. C. Hollister, for four years trainmaster of Baltimore Division, Company K, of Rockville, has been brought home from Baltimore, where he has been patrolling the fire district, in a condition bordering on pneumonia. Mr. Hollister lives near Washington Grove.

The Hon. John W. Williams, Mrs. Williams and their little daughter Lorraine have returned to Boyds from Annapolis.

Tenant's Hair Growth Angered the Landlord

Because John Dougherty Refuses to Shave His Whiskers He May Lose His Home. Eighteen Years Unshorn.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Whether John Dougherty decided never to touch his hair and whiskers again with comb or scissors after the death of his sweetheart, eighteen years ago, or whether the vow was taken because he believed that ill health would follow any disturbance of his locks, is a matter in dispute. But it is admitted by all that Mr. Dougherty made the vow for some reason and that he has kept it with the fervor of a religious enthusiast for eighteen years.

The result is startling. Mr. Dougherty has a beard and mane the like of which does not exist in New York, and perhaps not in the world.

Court Must Decide.

Just at present Dougherty lives in a furnished room house at 129 West Twenty-second Street, but the owner of the place, Frank Crane, is desirous that he shall move. The tenant refuses to budge, denying that his appearance is causing Mr. Crane's other customers to leave. The police have been requested to adjudicate, but they have refused, as the matter will be taken into a civil court.

According to Mr. Crane, he purchased the house at 129 West Twenty-second Street the first of the present year. With the house he in a way inherited Dougherty, who had been a tenant there for eighteen years, living all that time in one room. He has plenty of money, and Mr. Crane at once suggested to him that he find better lodgings elsewhere, but the advice was refused.

"Dougherty," said Mr. Crane, last night, "was engaged to marry my young woman about eighteen years ago. She occupied the room in which he now lives. He called on her one day and she is said to have kissed him. She was seized with heart disease and died. Dougherty almost lost his power of reason as a result of grief.

"He vowed never to have his hair or beard touched, and he has kept the vow. He enters my restaurant, and he is so remarkable in appearance that my other customers fear him. I have nothing against the man, but he is ruining my business, and I want him to go elsewhere. He has, I am told, a fortune of about $50,000."

Head Like Bushel Basket.

When seen in his room last night Dougherty fully bore out the description of him given by Mr. Crane. He is about sixty years old, and his hair makes his head appear the size of a bushel basket. His locks are tangled and matted, and just the tip of his nose can be seen peeping out from the mass of whiskers that almost hide his eyes, and completely cover the remainder of his face. He is fully six feet tall, and on a dark night he might be mistaken for a bear of a man, though he has a reputation as a man of peace and good will.

That story about my having lost my intended wife," said Mr. Dougherty, "is not true, or at least it is not true that the death of any person caused me to stop cutting my hair and beard. Eighteen years ago I read something to the effect that strength is lost as a result of cutting the hair. I knew the writer to be a man of great learning, and I took his advice and have been well ever since. I have money, and I don't want to leave here, but I suppose Mr. Crane has the power to put me out."

MRS. POWELL CHARGED WITH MURDERING GIRL

Arrested When Returning From Funeral of Estelle Albin, Her Alleged Victim.

DOVER, Del., Feb. 15.—Returning from the funeral services in historic Barratt's chapel, where but a short time before she had imprinted a last kiss upon the mutilated face of the murdered girl, Mrs. Mary M. Powell, late yesterday afternoon was arrested and accused of slaying attractive Estelle Albin, who had lived with the Powell family the past seven years.

Scarcely had Mrs. Powell changed her heavy mourning attire when Detectives Francis and Redge told her she would have to go to Dover. So generally was the arrest anticipated that it caused no excitement in the curious throng. Mrs. Powell seemed entirely indifferent as the warrant accusing her of willful murder was read. Her stolid demeanor, which has been her chief characteristic, was unchanged. Conversing aside a few moments with her husband, she departed without a farewell kiss from him. Emerging from the farmhouse she hailed one of the laborers.

"Good-by, Pete," she exclaimed. "I may come back, and I may not. Maybe they'll find out who did this." Entering a carriage with Detective Ratledge, she was driven twelve miles to Dover. Mrs. Powell was arraigned before Magistrate Woods and was committed to the county jail on February 23. Nobody is permitted to see her in jail.

The theory of the State authorities is that Mrs. Powell was insanely jealous of the girl, and murdered her while Powell was in the house. The girl was found in a ditch, and the connection between Mrs. Powell and the girl is being investigated.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 15.—A train collision occurred near Brussels this morning in which there were three killed and forty injured.

HYATTSVILLE NOTES.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Feb. 15.—As Mrs. Carrie Zell was nearing home in Sibley Avenue about 7 o'clock Saturday evening with her pocketbook hanging by a chain to her right wrist, she became aware that she was followed. Turning, she saw a light colored negro, dressed in dark clothes and slouch hat, who, darting forward, with the demand, "Give me this," seized the pocketbook and wrenched it from the chain. He started toward Maryland Avenue, but two or three persons hearing the screams of Mrs. Zell were heading him off, so he escaped across lots in the direction of Bladensburg. Mrs. Zell is positive that she could identify the robber.

GIRLS PLAY FOOTPADS AND ARE BADLY SCARED

Eleven of Them Held Up Young Man Who Pulled Pistol and Snapped It.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—The playful prank of eleven young Wisnashikon women who were returning home from a party about midnight Saturday came near resulting in a very serious injury. One of the prank plays is to lead or injure a young man. The girls were well equipped with their weapons, and the result was a very serious injury. The girls were well equipped with their weapons, and the result was a very serious injury.

The eleven girls were walking along Ridge Avenue, when, above Kalos Street, they espied a lone pedestrian, a man, coming toward them. One of the young women, who was in the lead, held up the stranger just for fun. As the man approached the eldest of the party, she ordered him to throw up his hands and hand over his valuables, and at the same time all the other girls crowded around him. The man was visibly frightened, but instead of throwing up his hands he pulled a revolver and snapped the trigger three times. Fortunately for the girls, the weapon failed to go off. However, two of the girls fainting and the others ran like deer. The man also took to his heels and disappeared. Miss Sarah Ryan, one of the girls, said she was so badly frightened that no more hold-up larks will be perpetrated by her or the other ten girls.

MURDER TRIAL MAY END BY COURT TERM CLOSING

Millionaire Dewey and His Cowboys Likely to Profit by Provisions of Statute.

NORTON, Kan., Feb. 15.—In the trial of Chauncey Dewey and his cowboys, William J. McBride and Clyde Wilson, today, charged with the murder of Burchard Berry, damaging testimony, particularly against McBride, was brought out by the State.

Burchard Berry testified that on the day of the killing at the Berry farm he saw McBride from behind the water tank rise up and shoot Burchard Berry. He also stated that it was Dewey who shot Roy Berry in the jaw. Witness told of going with Roy and Burchard to the home of Alpheus Berry, another relative, where the shooting took place. Unless the present trial is finished by midnight next Saturday the chances are said to be 100 to 1 that the case will never be concluded. The present term of the Norton court closes at that time, and with it comes to a stop all litigation pending then. The Kansas law permits as many years as desired for change of venue as the defendant may desire, but it does not give the same privilege to the State.

Chauncey Dewey, the principal actor in the tragedy, which is the talk of all Kansas, has a most attractive and successful business. He is a millionaire, and he is a second cousin to Admiral Dewey.

PRINTER'S INK FILLED PASTOR'S CHURCH

Connecticut Clergyman Used Poster Type and Advertised in Papers.

DERBY, Conn., Feb. 15.—Poster type and half-page advertisements in local newspapers announced Saturday the services to be held yesterday in St. Barnabas' Episcopal Church, Naugatuck. It was a plan hit upon and paid for by the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Garth, to fill his pews.

Practically the whole town turned out, and half an hour before the service began people were being turned away from the door of the Most Reverend congregation and the rustling nearly drowned out portions of the service. The sermon topic appeared in bold-faced letters one and one-quarter inches high.

LOSES HIS SIGHT IN EXPERIMENTING

Banker Had Laboratory at Place of Explosion.

CAUSE ENTIRELY UNKNOWN

None But Himself, Wife and Assistant Knew Nature of Experiments. Alone Behind Locked Doors.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Augustus J. Brunson, president of the First National Bank of Plainfield, N. J.; vice-president of the Van der Venter Carpet Manufacturing Company of Greensboro, N. C.; and known as one of the wealthiest business men of the State, is at a sanitarium here totally blind as a result of an explosion of chemicals last week in a little laboratory on the outskirts of the city, in which he was working in secret.

Dr. Charles J. Kipp, oculist, of Newark, and specialists from Philadelphia field a consultation yesterday and announced that the banker's sight was destroyed forever. The patient and his wife have not yet been told the truth, and none but they know the exact nature of the experiments in the little laboratory. No one can even tell the exact nature of the accident which caused the loss of Mr. Brunson's sight.

Great Secrecy Observed.

A few years ago he became interested in experimenting with chemicals, and early last year aroused the curiosity of his friends by erecting a structure about 200 by 50 feet and covered with sheet-iron. The light to this building was admitted through windows which were high above the ground and the structure, which was heavily locked and barred, was surrounded by a stout wire fence 10 feet high. The nearest residence was several hundred yards away.

This lonely place was in charge of Joseph Swick, who was bound to secrecy, and every day let himself into the laboratory and locked the door behind him. After banking hours President Brunson would drive out in a hand-some rig to remain sometimes until far into the night. Occasionally he would be accompanied by his wife, but no other person ever saw the interior of the structure. It is thought that Brunson was at work on a new safety match. Inquisitive persons saw matchwood taken to the place.

Wife Will Not Tell.

Last week Brunson went to the laboratory without his wife and, letting himself into the building, locked the iron door and began work. Swick was in another part of the structure. A little later there was the sound of a muffled explosion and the door assistant threw open the door and came out with the unconscious form of the banker in his arms. He stopped to lock the door behind him, and then bore his burden to a roadway, where he hailed a passing wagon and the injured man was taken to the residence of Dr. George B. Endicott. His face and the entire upper part of his body were a mass of blisters. He will have deep scars on his face all his life.

His wife said that her husband had made her promise not to tell what his experiments were.

WINTER IS COMING BRINGING CATARRH

Every Catarrh sufferer dreads the coming of winter, for with the first breath of the "ice-king" this miserable disease is fanned into new life, and all the disgusting symptoms return. The nostrils are stopped up and the throat can be kept clear of mucous secretions only by continual hawking and spitting. Catarrh is a nuisance and source of annoyance, not only to the one who has it, but everybody else.

The thick, yellowish discharge from the head produces a feeling of personal defilement, and the odor of the breath is unbearably sickening and almost intolerable. On the catarrhal poison brings on stomach troubles and affects the Kidneys and Bladder. It attacks the soft bones and tissues of the head and throat, causing total or partial deafness, the loss of smell, and giving to the voice a rasping, nasal twang. No part of the body is secure from its ravages. Catarrh makes you sick all over, for it is a disease of the blood, and circulates all through the system, and for this reason, sprays, washes and inhalers, powders and salves, have proven failures.

The way to cure Catarrh thoroughly and permanently is to cleanse the blood of the unhealthy secretions that keep the membranes of the body inflamed, and promptly as S. S. S. As long as the blood is poisoned with catarrhal matter the discharge of mucus will continue. S. S. S. goes to the fountain source of the trouble, purifies and enriches the blood, and so invigorates the system that catching cold is not so likely to occur, and winter's coming brings none of the discomforts of Catarrh. Write us particulars of your case, and let our physicians help you get rid of this blood-tainting and charge whatever for medical advice.

Germany Begins War On American Dentists

Kaiser's Courts, by Strict Rulings, Practically Declare That United States Graduates Must Not Practice There.

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—It is evident that Germany does not want the American dentist.

In many of the larger cities graduates of American dental colleges have settled down and in very short time have built up large practices, depriving the native dentists of many of their very best customers.

German dentists are considered as skillful as any in Europe, but compared with the American dentists, their methods are not up to date.

Unable to compete with the invaders, they have therefore declared open war against them, and the courts have backed them up.

FAVOR INVALID PENSIONS FOR BLIND VETERANS

House Committee Will Report a Bill Placing Them on Equal Terms With the Maimed.

"There is every reason to believe that a bill will soon be reported by the committee on invalid pensions of the House granting to those who have lost their eyesight as a result of injuries in the war of the rebellion the same pension that has been given to men who lost both feet or hands," said a member of that committee to The Times.

"What other legislation is contemplated?" asked The Times reporter.

"We have a lot of pension bills before us. Among them is a bill giving a pension to every soldier who served three months. I shall never vote to report such a bill. A lot of men who answered the first call never saw any service, yet they would get, under such a bill, as much each month as men who fought the four years through. I do not favor that. The cost would be enormous and the results unjust and discriminating."

"Are any of the other bills going through?" asked The Times.

"That we cannot say at this time. They may or they may not. I believe men should be given a pension in proportion to the time they served. If a man served four years and got only $14 a month, you can see how little a man would get who served only ninety days and hung round the hospitals till he was discharged because he was of no use."

The committee will shortly have finished its consideration of the stack of perennial bills and will doubtless lay them over again till another Congress.

WATER COLOR EXHIBITION.

Work of local artists is on display this week at Morrey's Gallery, 1225 G Street, where the Water Color Club is holding an exhibition to raise funds for the annual exhibit at the Corcoran Gallery.

A recent decision by the federal court at Leipzig states that according to existing German law no American dentist may open an office in Germany. The court, unknown for what reason, claims that only graduates from the Dental College of Ann Arbor, Mich., will be allowed to operate upon German patients.

The court states that American dental diplomas are a commercial commodity, which may be bought by anyone who has the price, and that for this reason there is no guarantee that the holder is capable of performing dental work.

And now every German dentist is rejoicing that the much-feared American invasion has been stopped, at least at one point.

Present From Dying Daughter, Pleaded the Victim.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 15.—The plea to masked highwaymen that his watch was a present from his dying daughter, whom he had just left, saved the time-piece to John Connolly, an attaché of the State House, Saturday.

Connolly had been at St. Francis Hospital visiting his daughter under treatment there, and he took the 9 o'clock car home. He got off in Cadwalader Place and walked through toward Parkside Avenue, where he lives. On his way two masked men jumped from behind trees, leveled revolvers at him, and held him up in old-time style. They took his cash, but left the watch.
